Are you interested in gaining international research experience in one of the world’s best research destinations? Why not choose Germany and benefit from its excellent research infrastructure with state-of-the-art research facilities, highly qualified researchers in all disciplines, and a host of different funding opportunities tailored to your needs?

For information on all aspects of research and research funding in Germany please visit the portal www.research-in-germany.de

- detailed information on German research performing and funding organizations
- up-to-date facts & figures / rankings
- news about science campaigns and activities
- German and European funding opportunities for various career stages
- job offers, and more….

"Research in Germany" keeps you in the loop about what's going on in German academia!